Detectives Think Brunette Coed Friend of Slayer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A brunette coed steps nude from a bath at her fiancé's apartment and confronts an intruder who will slash her to death with a knife in the next few minutes.

Without bothering to cover herself with a towel from the bathroom, Linda Martin, 21, and the intruder argue for five minutes in voices loud enough for a neighbor to hear.

"You get out of here," Miss Martin finally shrieks. A moment later, as the killer strikes, she cries: "Help me, help me."

Slashed several times — once near the heart — Miss Martin stumbles down a flight of stairs to a side door. Her flailing fists break the door's glass pane in a frantic effort to get away. Then, her life blood ebbing, she crumples and dies.

That's how homicide detectives reconstructed the Sunday night slaying of the talented graduate piano student who planned to marry an art student in a few months.

Police said the fact that she didn't bother to cover herself and argued with the man so long indicated she may have known him. They said she apparently was not sexually molested.

Her fiancé, balding, bearded G. Robert Kinzie, 27, broke down when he returned to the apartment after visiting with friends at a coffee house in Hollywood.

Kinzie works as a ceramics instructor at the nearby University of Southern California, where Miss Martin was a student.

Detectives checked Kinzie's movements Sunday and said they are satisfied he is not involved. However, Kinzie voluntarily took a three-hour lie detector test Monday night. Authorities said his account was confirmed by results of the test.

Miss Martin's dying screams attracted a neighbor couple, Gerald and Gertrude Jump. Mrs. Jump said they ran outside to the side door.

"We saw her standing inside the door pounding her fists against it," she said. "We could see her face. She was screaming. . . . There's a man in here! There's a man at my door." It was something about a man.

"Then she ran her fist through the glass and shattered it."

Kinzie said his fiancée stayed overnight Saturday at his flat. Although she lived with two roommates 10 blocks away, Kinzie said she was a frequent visitor at his apartment.

Miss Martin's former husband John Taylor lives with his parents in Glenview, Ill.

She and Taylor were married in 1957 when both were students at Oberlin College in Ohio. She obtained an annulment last April, saying the marriage was never consummated.

Young Mountain Climbers Die As Rescuers Come into Sight

FRANCONIA, N.H. (AP) — Two young climbers, trapped 28 hours on a ledge halfway up the almost perpendicular granite face of Profile Mountain, died Monday with rescue almost in reach.

The White Mountains bitter weather was too much for them. Clad only in light cotton trousers and shirts, they had endured numbing 38-degree cold overnight, the soaking of a driving rain borne on 50-mile winds, and thick fog.

A team of rock climbers scaled a towering cliff on the fog-wrapped mountain today and reached the bodies of the two inexperienced climbers. Moving slowly up the almost-sheer granite wall, the climbers were led by William Putnam of Springfield, Mass., chairman of the mountain safety committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club.

The victims were Alfred Whipple Jr., 20, Gales Ferry, Conn., a sophomore at Brown University, and Sidney Crouch, 21, Ledyard, Conn., a student at Export (Pa.) Bible Institute. They had been friends since elementary school.

John E. Taylor, 29, Princeton, Mass., who led a seven-man team that climbed to the ledge, said they found one man slumped over, either dead or dying. The other was incoherent.

"He could not understand what I was saying. He yelled at me. It appeared to be a monotonous 'Hurry up.'"

"I don't know which one it was. It might have been the older one. When I got within 25 feet of him, his head was bobbing. He was standing erect with his eyes closed."

Taylor said that by the time he got near the marooned pair "I would have to grip a rock, then loosen one hand with the other to move up." He described the cold as ferocious.

David Sanderson, Portsmouth, N.H., climbed to the ledge and lowered the youth still on his feet to Robert Collins, Brookline, Mass., standing 25 feet below. Collins dressed him in warm clothing. But at that point he died.

With daylight waning and the rescuers exhausted, plans to bring the bodies down were abandoned. Instead, the bodies were secured with ropes and the party went back down the mountain. The descent took another two hours.

Whipple and Crouch acquired most of their knowledge of climbing from books.

Experienced mountaineers have avoided the route the pair took Sunday.

Ohio Polio Count Reaches Season Peak

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nineteen polio cases, more than in any other single week this year, were reported from eight Ohio counties last week.

But the state health department said today that this is not as alarming as it sounds. For one thing, the department said, the 19 cases do not represent a sharp increase. Earlier this month 17 cases were noted in a week's time.

And the figure is the same as in the comparable week of 1958.

"Polio cases in Ohio got off to a head start over 1958 early this year," department spokesman Art Robinson said, "but it appears now that the number of reported cases is running about the same as last year on a week-to-week basis."

Ohio's total to date is 105 cases, 63 of which are paralytic. Thirty-two counties are involved. Last year at this time the state had 66 cases.

In 97 of this year's 105 cases, where the status of Salk vaccine shots is known, 57 victims had no shots and 19 had all three. Of those 19, 11 have the non-paralytic type polio.

President Set To Leave For Europe

Statement Made To Calm Fears Of West Allies

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today one purpose of his trip to Europe is to pledge Western unity "in opposing, by force if necessary, any aggression" against the allies.

The President also told a news conference that on his trip, starting Wednesday, he wants to pledge once again "America's devotion to peace with honor and justice."

Eisenhower met with newsmen about 14 hours in advance of his scheduled departure for conferences with leaders of West Germany, Britain and France.

His talks with them will be a prelude to his discussions with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Washington starting Sept. 15, and to his own planned visit to the Soviet Union later in the fall.

On the trip to Europe, Eisenhower will meet first in Bonn with West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer; in Britain with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, and in France with President Charles de Gaulle.

At the outset of today's session with reporters, Eisenhower announced he wanted to read a statement.

Reading from it, he then said his trip to Europe has several purposes, and added that one is: "To pledge, once again, in the several capitals I shall visit, America's devotion to peace with honor and justice."

Next in clear words of caution obviously directed to the Soviet Union, the President said a further purpose of his journey is:

"To support Western unity in opposing, by force if necessary, any aggression; and to preserve the defensive strength required for our common security."

Besides their caution to Russia, the President's words seemed intended also as reassurance to Adenauer and De Gaulle — both of whom reportedly have misgivings about the President's forthcoming talks with Khrushchev — that under no circumstances will he make any deals behind their backs.

In his statement, Eisenhower said further that he intends to

Ashville Councilmen Ineligible

A group petition of six Ashville councilmen was ruled invalid recently by the Pickaway County Board of Elections.

The petition was found to have insufficient signatures by the local election board. A minimum of 25 signatures were needed to validate the petition and only 22 were eligible.

In checking the petition, the election board found that three of its 25 signatures also were on another Ashville councilman's petition and therefore became null and void on both petitions.

Councilmen ruled off the ballot were Richard Cook, Charles W. Morrison, Chester V. Gloyd, Paul F. Smith, Jack E. Lemon and George W. Forquer.

THE PETITION was circulated by Gloyd. By virtue of the board's ruling, two Ashville councilmen candidates were automatically assured village council seats.

They are John E. Little and Virgil C. Waldon. There will be spaces on the November 5 general off-year election ballot for four write-in councilmen's seats.

The six invalid petitioners will be forced to conduct write-in campaigns for the four remaining seats. Incumbent councilmen ruled off the ballot were Morrison, Gloyd, Smith, Lemon and Cook.

Walkaway Apprehended Here Following All Night Search

A man who walked away from Municipal Court here yesterday was apprehended at 7:35 a. m. today following an all night search by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

In jail today after about 24 hours of debateable freedom is William B. Hiles, 32, Route 2, Ashville. He walked away at about 10 a. m. yesterday from the local court where he was slated to appear for driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Hiles was brought to the court from the jail by deputies. He apparently slipped away while awaiting his turn to go before the bench.

The accused man was apprehended by Deputy Dwight Radcliff on the Island Road near the Scioto River Bridge. Deputy Radcliff said the man was walking along the road.

THE apprehension ended a massive manhunt in this area which was conducted throughout the night by the entire sheriff's department and all available auxiliary deputies.

Hiles told Deputy Radcliff that he slept in a railroad car near here during the night.

A telephone tip at 7:30 a. m. today informed the sheriff's office that a man was seen at the Island road area. Radcliff had Hiles in custody about five minutes after the call.

Officers said Hiles also will be held for parole violation. According to records, he has served time at the Ohio State Penitentiary.

Dozen London Inmates Head For Ohio Pen

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—A dozen inmates of the London Prison Farm have been returned to Ohio Penitentiary as the result of a five-hour sitdown strike by about 1,200 inmates at the farm Monday.

The disturbance ended when Ohio Highway Patrolmen, armed with riot guns, routed 200 prisoners from Dormitory 7, center of the placid revolt. Dorm 7 inmates were loaded onto trucks and went out into fields in which they earlier had refused to work.

Another 1,000 prisoners who had joined the sitdown strike as sympathizers quickly joined the back-to-work movement.

The prisoners complained about prison food yesterday when the 200 in Dormitory 7 refused to eat breakfast or go into the fields for another workday in the 90-degree-plus heat. But prison farm officials said they believe the heat had more to do with the brief rebellion than the food.

An inspection by Highway Patrolmen showed none of the inmates was armed.

There was no violence during the five-hour strike.

The prison farm is a medium-security institution, housing the more reliable prisoners transferred from Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus.

About half the prison population was involved at the height of the trouble.

Firemen Halt Grass Blaze

All available Circleville Firemen were summoned to the Hargus Creek Memorial Lake area at about 10:30 a. m. today to battle a sweeping grass fire.

Firemen said the blaze was brought under control before it could reach any houses or buildings, although flames came within about five feet of a barn near the lake.

The call was answered by six local firemen, several of whom were off duty at the time. Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Local fire fighters said the flames spread quickly, engulfing tinder dry weeds, grass and logs in the area.

Congress Eyes Housing Bill

Leaders Plan Last-Minute OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new billion-dollar compromise housing bill was approved today by the House Banking Committee.

The measure is a substitute for the $1,375,000,000 bill vetoed earlier this session by President Eisenhower.

The committee stamped approval on the Senate-passed housing substitute by a 19-4 vote, without hearings and without change.

The bill does not entirely satisfy committee Republicans who dislike a number of administration-opposed features. But Rep. Gordon L. McDonough (R-Calif.) indicated after the committee acted that there is little choice this late in the session.

Rep. Albert Rains (D - Ala), chairman of the housing subcommittee, said he planned to go directly to the House Rules Committee with a request for clearance to the floor.

Sponsors took the committee action as assurance of passing a housing bill before Congress goes home.

But House leaders were in no hurry to get it to the floor before the closing hours of this session, possibly late next week.

Rebuffed once by the President with his veto, leaders plan to complete congressional action on the Senate-passed housing measure just before adjournment and hand it to Eisenhower on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

The bill, passed by the Senate Aug. 18, had been resting in a pigeon hole in the desk of Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) until Monday, when he handed it to the Banking Committee for action.

In its present form, the Senate-passed bill contains features that led the President to veto a larger bill passed earlier this session. Among them are provisions for new public housing, loans for college classrooms, and money to build housing for elderly people.

Republicans say that the bill, although cut down from its previous figures, still contains invitations for another veto.

But with Congress showing signs of adjournment fever, its passage without change was forecast.

Major items of the bill provide for:

Urban renewal — 650 million in grant funds available at once, with 100 million earmarked for cities under 100,000 population. The administration asked 300 million dollars for each of the next two years.

Public housing — Authority for 37,000 new units.

College dormitories — 250 million in loans.

College classrooms — 50 million in loans.

Housing for the elderly — 50 million in direct loans.

Cooperative housing — 25 million for co-op mortgage purchases by the Federal National Mortgage Assn.

FHA home mortgage insurance authority — 10 billion dollars.

Lower FHA down payments and increased FHA mortgage .

Walkaway Apprehended Here Following All Night Search

A man who walked away from Municipal Court here yesterday was apprehended at 7:35 a. m. today following an all night search by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

In jail today after about 24 hours of debatable freedom is William B. Hiles, 32, Route 2, Ashville. He walked away at about 10 a. m. yesterday from the local court where he was slated to appear for driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Hiles was brought to the court from the jail by deputies. He apparently slipped away while awaiting his turn to go before the bench.

The accused man was apprehended by Deputy Dwight Radcliff on the Island Road near the Scioto River Bridge. Deputy Radcliff said the man was walking along the road.

THE apprehension ended a massive manhunt in this area which was conducted throughout the night by the entire sheriff's department and all available auxiliary deputies.

Hiles told Deputy Radcliff that he slept in a railroad car near here during the night.

A telephone tip at 7:30 a. m. today informed the sheriff's office that a man was seen at the Island road area. Radcliff had Hiles in custody about five minutes after the call.

Officers said Hiles also will be held for parole violation. According to records, he has served time at the Ohio State Penitentiary.

Dozen London Inmates Head For Ohio Pen

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—A dozen inmates of the London Prison Farm have been returned to Ohio Penitentiary as the result of a five-hour sitdown strike by about 1,200 inmates at the farm Monday.

The disturbance ended when Ohio Highway Patrolmen, armed with riot guns, routed 200 prisoners from Dormitory 7, center of the placid revolt. Dorm 7 inmates were loaded onto trucks and went into fields in which they earlier had refused to work.

Another 1,000 prisoners who had joined the sitdown strike as sympathizers quickly joined the back-to-work movement.

The prisoners complained about prison food yesterday when the 200 in Dormitory 7 refused to eat breakfast or go into the fields for another workday in the 90-degree-plus heat. But prison farm officials said they believe the heat had more to do with the brief rebellion than the food.

An inspection by Highway Patrolmen showed none of the inmates was armed.

There was no violence during the five-hour strike.

The prison farm is a medium-security institution, housing the more reliable prisoners transferred from Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus.

About half the prison population was involved at the height of the trouble.

Firemen Halt Grass Blaze

All available Circleville Firemen were summoned to the Hargus Creek Memorial Lake area at about 10:30 a. m. today to battle a sweeping grass fire.

Firemen said the blaze was brought under control before it could reach any houses or buildings, although flames came within about five feet of a barn near the lake.

The call was answered by six local firemen, several of whom were off duty at the time. Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Local fire fighters said the flames spread quickly, engulfing tinder dry weeds, grass and logs in the area.

Congress Panel Considers Touchy New Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees plunge into debate today on two of the most controversial sections of the labor control bill after reaching agreement on three Taft-Hartley provisions.

Up for discussion are secondary boycotts and organizational picketing, two of the three subjects on which the Senate and House versions of the legislation are most sharply divergent.

The 14 conferees worked at two sessions Monday. When the afternoon session broke up, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), conference chairman, reported agreement on these points:

1. To accept the Senate provision under which replaced strikers in a labor dispute would be allowed to vote, but limiting the right to the first nine months of the walkout. There was no limitation in the Senate bill. The House measure did not allow such strikers to vote.

2. To knock out the Senate provision setting up a procedure for prehearing elections in labor disputes. This was designed to eliminate delaying tactics sometimes used to stall elections on the question of union representation.

3. To reject a Senate provision excluding service assistants in the telephone industry from the definition of a supervisor, and thus make them subject to union membership. It was not in the House bill.

The first of these makes a dent in a section of the Taft-Hartley law—a section once denounced by President Eisenhower as union-busting. Some employers strongly opposed eliminating it.

The prehearing election provision also had administration support but again was fought by some employers, especially retailers.

President . . .
suggest to the Western leaders that the allies "restate our readiness to negotiate realistically with the Soviets on any reasonable and mutually enforceable plan for general or special disarmament."

President Eisenhower also called for "a real beginning toward solving the problems of a divided Germany." And new efforts to ease world tensions.

Eisenhower's news conference attracted 233 reporters to a newly air-conditioned conference room. Most of the questions dealt with his trip to Europe and with the later Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchange of visits.

Responding to one inquiry, the President said this government will welcome Khrushchev to the United States as a chief of state—in effect as top man—and not as a head of government, his technical position.

That means, the President went on, that as of now he is planning to meet the Kremlin leader at the airport on his arrival here Sept. 15.

Presumably the other etiquette of diplomacy relating to visits by a chief of state will be observed throughout the Khrushchev visit.

The President said the Soviet government has informed the State Department that Khrushchev's status is in substance that of a chief of state.

The President dealt also with these other topics:
LEGISLATION — With adjournment of Congress nearing, Eisenhower announced he has written Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Senate's presiding officer; and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) that he wants action before adjournment on legislation in the fields of debt management and interest rates, financing of the highway construction program, and the Federal Housing Administration insurance program.

The President said he also wants an effective labor reform bill, civil rights legislation and adequate funds for foreign aid.

LAOS — Eisenhower cited Communist rebel action in Laos as an example of why the foreign aid program must be kept strong. In response to questions, he said Laos has not asked the United States for troops but has requested money and equipment. Such aid is needed, Eisenhower said, to help that kingdom's police force maintain internal order. He added that the matter of granting such help to Laos is under urgent study.

NUCLEAR — There has been no decision as to whether the United States will extend its current one-year suspension of nuclear tests beyond the Sept. 30 expiration date.

STEEL — Eisenhower said again that he has no plans for government intervention in the steel strike unless the situation should develop a threat to national security.

He gave no hint as to when he might reach such a point.

Congress Panel Considers Touchy New Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees plunge into debate today on two of the most controversial sections of the labor control bill after reaching agreement on three Taft-Hartley provisions.

Up for discussion are secondary boycotts and organizational picketing, two of the three subjects on suggest to the Western leaders that the allies "restate our readiness to negotiate realistically with the Soviets on any reasonable and mutually enforceable plan for general or special disarmament."

President Eisenhower also called for "a real beginning toward solving the problems of a divided Germany," and new efforts to ease world tensions.

Eisenhower's news conference attracted 233 reporters to a newly air-conditioned conference room. Most of the questions dealt with his trip to Europe and with the later Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchange of visits.

Responding to one inquiry, the President said this government will welcome Khrushchev to the United States as a chief of state—in effect as top man—and not as a head of government, his technical position.

That means, the President went on, that as of now he is planning to meet the Kremlin leader at the airport on his arrival here Sept. 15.

Presumably the other etiquette of diplomacy relating to visits by a chief of state will be observed throughout the Khrushchev visit.

The President said the Soviet government has informed the State Department that Khrushchev's status is in substance that of a chief of state.

The President dealt also with these other topics:

LEGISLATION — With adjournment of Congress nearing, Eisenhower announced he has written Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Senate's presiding officer, and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) that he wants action before adjournment on legislation in the fields of debt management and interest rates, financing of the highway construction program, and the Federal Housing Administration insurance program.

The President said he also wants an effective labor reform bill, civil rights legislation and adequate funds for foreign aid.

LAOS — Eisenhower cited Communist rebel action in Laos as an example of why the foreign aid program must be kept strong. In response to questions, he said Laos has not asked the United States for troops but has requested money and equipment. Such aid is needed, Eisenhower said, to help that kingdom's police force maintain internal order. He added that the matter of granting such help to Laos is under urgent study.

NUCLEAR — There has been no decision as to whether the United States will extend its current one-year suspension of nuclear tests beyond the Sept. 30 expiration date.

STEEL — Eisenhower said again that he has no plans for government intervention in the steel strike unless the situation should develop a threat to national security.

He gave no hint as to when he might reach such a point.

Price Squeeze Pinches Your Pocketbook

New Statistics
Show Take-Home
Pay Is Reduced

By SAM DAUSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Making both ends meet seems to get a little harder all the time for most folk. Even the government's mythical average man finds it so.

And for the millions of Americans who only approximate the average, the steady drain on the pocketbook puzzles those who read reports in official quarters of general price stability.

But even the statistics reveal the pinch.

The consumer price index rose to a new high in July and probably is continuing in August. And because of the steel strike and its effect on other industries and because of a seasonal drop in some factory work weeks, the average take-home pay of the factory worker dropped.

Combined with rises in prices, this means he had to spend more and had less to do it with. We are told that this should change in time and industrial output and factory incomes be on the rise again. Meantime, it's rough.

And now the government comes up with two more statistics showing what was hurting you only a short time back. They add up to still tighter squeezes on the family pocketbook.

One is a rise in taxes which took a record 112 billion dollars from American taxpayers in the fiscal year ended June 30. The other states that while personal income totals were up 2 per cent in 1958 over 1957, over-all prices rose even more.

What with higher tax payments and higher prices for many of the goods and services it needs or wants, the so-called average family had to do some fancy footwork just to keep going.

Part of the tax payments come from business. But they come out of gross earnings, and earnings start their way through the accountant's books in the form of prices or fees. Thus they become part of the hidden taxes that the consumer eventually pays.

The government breakdown on tax payments put the federal ones at about 80 billion dollars and the state and local ones at close to 16 billion dollars each.

The Tax Foundation, a private research group, says that state tax collections have doubled since 1949.

It also does some complicated figuring to report that a white collar worker, married and with two children, and making $7,500 a year pays $1,770 a year in taxes to the federal, state and local governments, or 24 per cent of his income. It says that for the same work he would have been paid $4,900 10 years ago, but his total tax bill would have been $679, or 14 per cent of his income.

When it gets away from individuals, the government's fiscal view of the economy is more cheerful.

It reports that in the second three-month period of the year the total dollar-volume of goods produced and services rendered was at a record rate of 484½ billion dollars, or 15½ billion higher

Disastrous Jail Fire Due to Cigs

TOMS RIVER, N.J. (AP) — The Ocean County prosecutor said today the disastrous county jail fire was caused by matches or a lighted cigarette passed to a prisoner in a padded cell.

Howard Ewart, the prosecutor, said one of the two trusty inmates handed a cigarette and matches or a lighted cigarette to a "General" Petersen, 35, a Lakewood Negro held in the padded cell on a drunkenness charge.

The fire that broke out in the cell filled the jail with smoke, caused an explosion, and took the lives of eight prisoners, including Petersen.

Ewart said the trusty inmate's gesture apparently was an act of kindness without criminal motive. He said two trusties had access to the corridor where the padded cell was located and it has not been determined which one handed in the cigarette or matches.

Petersen burned to death in the padded cell, a box-like affair which could be moved on rollers, on the second floor of the two-story jail.

The seven other victims were in other cells on the second floor where rescuers were unable to reach them because of smoke, flames and the explosion.

Twelve persons were injured. Sheriff Harry Roe said matches and cigarettes are forbidden to prisoners in the padded cell.

Warren County Official Must Quit One Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Warren County Commissioner Corwin Nixon of Lebanon will be asked to resign either his commissioner-ship or his position as Warren County Fair manager, as the result of a conflict of interest ruling yesterday by Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy.

McElroy has notified Agriculture Director Robert H. Terhune that membership on a board of county commissioners is incompatible with the job of fair manager in the same county.

This is the second time that the attorney general has declared a conflict of interest exists in jobs held by Nixon. Last March, McElroy ruled that Nixon's job as secretary of the Warren County Fair was incompatible with his commissioner-ship.

Nixon resigned as secretary and was immediately rehired by the board of directors as fair manager, the attorney general's office said.

Gov. DiSalle Debates on Death Penalty

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Capital punishment is cold-blooded killing by society and should be relegated to the Dark Ages, Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said Monday.

Business Briefs

David Cerny, 148 Pinckney St., today announced his resignation as Federal grain inspector and weighmaster for the Circleville Chamber of Commerce grain department.

Cerny resigned to accept a new grain inspector position in Alton, Ill., across the Missouri River from St. Louis, Mo.

He starts in new job on September 1. His family will remain here until he locates living quarters, probably in St. Louis. The Cernys have been here for the past 8½ years, coming from their native city of St. Louis.

The Columbus Federal Grain Inspection Department will handle the local duties temporarily until a permanent replacement is found.

Taking part in a debate before 5,000 members of the American Bar Assn. (ABA), DiSalle asserted that killing by society can be justified only when there is a threat to society itself from within or without.

The governor, who made an unsuccessful fight in the Ohio Legislature this year for abolishment of capital punishment, called on the ABA to take the lead in ending the death penalty.

He attacked capital punishment on four counts:

1. Lethal justice is not administered equally. He said only one of 100 persons convicted of a capital crime is executed. And many of those who die, he said, are persons who lack the funds to employ an effective defense.

2. It is not a deterrent against crime.

3. When the death penalty is asked, juries are slow to convict.

4. "The terrible risk of executing the innocent." In some emotion-packed cases arrest can mean conviction, DiSalle said.

Zoar Lake Fish Die from Heat

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—Hundreds of fish in Zoar Lake apparently were victims of the hot weather.

Residents of Zoar, a community of 200 near here, have found the shores of the lake, lowered by hot, dry weather, dark with the bodies of dead fish.

More than half the population of the village turned out to dig trenches in which to bury the fish. They were still burying fish today.

Lack of oxygen as the lake shrank in size was blamed for the deaths. The level of the lake dropped several feet.

Senate Education Panel Approves School Grants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Education subcommittee has approved a compromise bill proposing a billion-dollar, two-year program of federal grants to the states for school construction.

The measure would put up the money at a rate of 500 million dollars a year starting in the current fiscal year, on a matched-fund basis.

The bill calls for a formula considering the wealth and population of each state.

Committee aides said the formula would work out to cover a range of two federal dollars for each state-local dollar in the poorer states, up to two state-local dollars for each federal dollar in the richer ones.

Blood Donors Below Average

During the month of August contributions of blood at the Red Cross Bloodmobiles all over the areas served by the Columbus Regional Center have fallen well below average.

As a result, even the emergency needs face the possibility of not being met. That makes it necessary for the local Red Cross chapter to call in special donors when the need arises.

The local hospital also suffers. No weekly deliveries of blood will be made to hospitals in counties that, during a blood-mobile visit, have not collected 100 pints of blood. Berger Hospital is one of these.

Each and every person between the ages of 21 to 60 are asked to get behind the blood program and help to correct this emergency situation. It is up to you.

The next visit of the Bloodmobile in Pickaway County will be Monday at the Methodist Church. The hours will be 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. You are urged to call and make your appointment at the Red Cross office today.

Upper Sandusky Man Held in Slaying

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Cecil Johnson, 33, father of seven, faced a manslaughter charge today in Municipal Court here in the fatal shooting of his wife, Alice, at their farm home outside nearby Brownstown. Sheriff Dean McAllister said Johnson, who had been drinking, shot his wife in the chest with a 12-gauge shotgun Saturday night.

Outer Space Is Not Empty

Space travel enthusiasts are in for a rude shock.

This was the reaction of physicists who have been studying reports from the University of Minnesota's high-altitude radiation studies showing that the sun shoots out streams of atomic particles that are quite destructive.

These particles amount to huge death rays in outer space. Four times in the last 11 weeks the death rays have been detected. They occur during "solar flares" which really are giant explosions on the surface of the sun.

Scientists studying the rays have found that stopping them in outer space would take at least one inch and maybe two inches of lead. Enough lead to protect a space ship's travelers would weigh more tons than any space propulsion system now conceived could lift out of the earth's gravitational field.

There is a possibility that men could make "short" trips—such as to the moon—without being hit by the death rays, by the simple device of leaving the earth at exactly the right time. But for trips to other planets, which would take months, there is no feasible system available to protect them.

Of course, in view of past conquests of "the impossible," no one would be foolish enough to say at this time that man never will travel past the moon. But the possibility of doing so are becoming slimmer as scientists discover that outer space is not nearly as "empty" as they once thought.

"Wake up. The baby's crying. While you're up you better close the windows. It's been raining for an hour."

"Well, who took out the garbage before you met me?"

"Oh, no, don't tell me that's a hat! Not that!"

"Good morning, Mrs. Dracula. Have a tough night?"

"Surely one of those cook books ought to tell you how to make a decent cup of coffee."

"Today, instead of going back to bed after I leave, why don't you—"

"Worn out? How can you be all worn out when you got a house full of gadgets to do all the work?"

"Belt him yourself if he needs it. He already thinks I'm the chief executioner."

"When I come home at night, all I want is some peace and quiet. Is that too much to ask?"

"Remember, Harry, when she opens the door, it was your idea that we stop off for a couple on the way."

"Do you think money grows on trees?"

"Just tell me where the needle and thread are. I'll sew it on myself."

"Wonder where I'd be today if I hadn't got married."

"The boss offered me two tickets, but I told him, 'No, give 'em to someone else. We already had a night out this morning."

"My mother raised six kids, did her own washing and ironing, and I never heard her complain in her life."

"The old timers were right. A woman never really appreciates you unless you beat her now and then."

"Let's get one thing straight. You run the house. I'll run the office."

"Well, just what did you expect—one long sweet honeymoon?"

"Baby, to cook a three-minute egg all you have to be able to do is to tell time."

"What do you mean I never talk to you anymore? I talk to you during the TV commercials, don't I?"

"The trouble with you wives is—you never had to meet a payroll."

"Sure I heard you. What did you say?"

Khrushch Goes Trade Happy

In Leipzig on March 6, Nikita Khrushch said:

"Foreign trade is the sound and stable foundation on which the peaceful coexistence of states with different social and economic systems can successfully develop."

"Moreover, economic relations provide good prerequisites for the strengthening of political relations. The extensive development of trade would play a large part in strengthening confidence among nations, in easing international tension."

This, then, is the current policy of Soviet Russia. Having found that a victory by war is probably impossible because of the balance of lethal weapons, that imperialistic diplomacy in Africa and Asia has only produced a nationalism which is as antagonistic to Soviet Russia as it is to the West, Khrushch has turned to trade as a fundamental of Soviet expansion.

In the vast expanse of Russian territory, including the satellites, Russia possesses a store-house of raw materials and now an important manufacturing complex.

Khrushch's program is historically sound, for after all Great Britain, Holland, Belgium, Japan and even tiny Luxembourg have established prosperous countries and even powerful states on the proceeds of foreign trade. Earlier, Spain and Portugal built empires on the proceeds of foreign trade and colonial exploitation. France built an Empire in North America but lost it to Great Britain and the United States because the French did not take full advantage of their trade possibilities.

Czarist Russia built an enormous empire in Asia but never realized its commercial potentialities except for the tea, fur, hide, skin and wool trade. Khrushch intends to develop Siberia and Turkestan into the world's largest producer of raw materials, both agricultural and mineral, and a manufacturing complex to equal ours.

This is possible of accomplishment if Russia has a prolonged period of peace and if it can develop adequate management under its present system.

Two factors involved in foreign trade are not generally recognized. They are the export of men and money. Foreign trade requires propaganda in many forms, advertising, public relations, salesmanship, contacts, often even a bit of corruption politely performed. This requires skilled and trained men.

Over a long period of history, say from Elizabeth I on, the British were particularly skilled at trade promotion and adjustment of the policies of the Empire to its necessities. At the beginning of the 20th century, the Germans showed up in all world markets as remarkable traders, capturing many markets from the British, including some British colonial territories.

The Japanese entered this trade and by the time of World War I were way out in front among the five greatest powers on Earth. Both the British and the Japanese sold American goods in Asiatic markets more effectively than Americans could because they understood exchange, shipping, insurance and commercial banking better than we did.

It is to be noted that Great Britain, Germany and Japan were, and are, very weak in raw materials, being forced to import much that they use in their manufactures. In the instance of Great Britain and Japan, they are also required to import some of their principal food requirements. Neither the United States nor Soviet Russia are in such a situation, and therefore are not so seriously affected by problems of exchange.

The requirement for skilled salesmanship and propaganda is now fulfilled in Soviet Russia by special training. Russians in high school learn to speak foreign languages and English is generally their second language. They not only learn to read it, our students do, but to speak colloquially.

As to the export of money, Soviet Russia is now definitely a creditor nation. True, Soviet Russia has never paid its World War I debts and still owes us part of the $11,000,000,000 which President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his aid, Harry Hopkins, gave Stalin in money and essential goods to keep him in the war against Hitler. In fact, Soviet Russia's credit ought not to be good, but apparently businessmen's faith, as well as that of the government, is great indeed.

Be that as it may, Soviet Russia today is a creditor nation, extending both long-term and intermediate credits to other countries and in some instances, making its commitments in gold. Since World War II, Soviet Russia has advanced credits to other countries amounting to 30,000,000,000 rubles or about $7,000,000,000.

As a creditor nation, Soviet Russia is in a position to develop its trade in all parts of the world where there are no specific restrictions against it. Khrushch, as did Mikoyan and Kozlov, will do everything possible to foster trade with the United States.

A little girl listened faithfully while her mother lectured on and on about the way young ladies should conduct themselves. "You've been most attentive," approved the mother at long last. "Now you tell me: Where do bad little girls go?"

Official at Last

WAUTOMA, Wis. (AP)—The Wautoma City Council finally got around to passing an ordinance combining the offices of comptroller and city treasurer.

Mrs. Gina Nelson, treasurer, is sort of happy that it's been made official. She's been performing the duties of both offices for the last 19 years.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Democrats sounded like a lion roaring when they took over Congress this year, you were hearing things. They turned out to be lambs. And their two leaders proved to be pretty mild fellows too.

The result: the Democratic performance to date is something less than eye-catching.

The two leaders—Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, both Texans—started off 1959, thanks to the 1958 elections, with the greatest Democratic majorities in both houses since early New Deal days.

Right now, including the new state of Hawaii, this is the lineup: in the House—284 Democrats to 153 Republicans (there is one vacancy); in the Senate—65 Democrats to 35 Republicans.

But Johnson and Rayburn, who are both conservative and believers in compromise to get things done, have led the Democrats down a middle-road course that can't make anyone very mad—or very excited, either.

President Eisenhower, undaunted by the Democrats' numbers, kept them in a lamb-like mood by threatening to veto anything they did which he didn't like. And he did. And they couldn't muster enough votes to override his veto.

Johnson didn't wait for Eisenhower to lay down his presidential program when Congress came here in January. The self-confident Johnson announced his own program Nov. 7, 1958, three days after the Democrats' overwhelming election win.

It had 12 points, some of which overlapped. But he said these were what the country needed.

The program looked impressive. The performance hasn't been.

Rayburn, always credited with magical control over House Democrats, in one glaring example didn't even seem to have control over his own Democrats from Texas. That was on the labor control bill.

The Senate passed a middle-of-the-road bill 90-1. But the House, mainly through Eisenhower's urging and a combination of Southern Democrats and Republicans, was in a mood to pass a much tougher one.

On the crucial vote for the tougher bill—229 for, 201 against—16 of Rayburn's 20 fellow Democrats from Texas voted for the sterner measure even though he himself said he favored the Senate version.

Those 16 Texas votes, if switched the other way, would have killed the tough bill. And Rayburn seems ineffective on another piece of legislation, a civil rights bill, which was approved by the House Judiciary Committee.

Rayburn promised earlier this year he wouldn't allow the Rules Committee to strangle legislation some other committee approved—but that's where the measure is bottled up now.

Johnson has insisted the Senate this year would pass a civil rights bill, but even if it does, there can be no new civil rights law unless the House also acts, which now seems unlikely.

In the Senate, Johnson has been more manager than leader. As a manager he undertakes to get divergent factions to work together. This calls for compromise, of which Johnson is a master, although the result is watered-down legislation.

These were some of the points

Recent Tremors Change Many Of Yellowstone's Geysers

Editor's Note: What did the Montana earthquake do to the famed geysers in Yellowstone National Park? Dean Stone, managing editor of the Maryville-Alcoa, Tenn., Times, who was vacationing here at time of the quake, reports that it changed the pace of many geysers.

By DEAN STONE

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo., (AP)—Old Faithful is still on schedule, but last week's earthquake has apparently stepped up the pace of many geysers in Yellowstone National Park.

Economic Geyser, dormant for nearly half a century, was triggered into action.

Morning, Fountain and Clepsydra geysers are among those which have increased their tempo since the quake last Monday night.

Morning Glory Pool and other hot springs turned murky after the quake, but now appear to be returning to normal. Giantess Geyser, which usually plays two or three times per season for 12 to 36 hours, began erupting constantly following the quake.

Some of the parks thermal features have become less active.

Grand Geyser, which is larger than Old Faithful, has not been in action for several days. It normally erupts every nine hours.

Merrill D. Beal, park naturalist, said there is no change in Old

Faithful's performance. He said the Fountain Paint Pot in the lower geyser basin "has definitely increased" in activity. It appears to be working its way into a parking lot area, Beal said.

Steady Geyser, which got its name for regularly gushing a stream 15 feet high, has diminished. It now just bubbles four to five feet.

Ted Brown Votes With Democrats In Ballot Fuss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican Secretary of State Ted W. Brown yesterday voted with Democratic members of the Scioto County Board of Elections to break a tie involving a candidate for township trustee.

Brown voted to permit the name of Robert J. Castle of Lucasville to go on the November ballot. The dispute centered on the signature of Castle's wife on his nominating petition. She became a registered voter July 27.

The date appearing after her signature was July 17, but she testified at a hearing that someone else entered the date. She signed the petition after she registered, she testified. On the basis of her testimony, Brown held Mrs. Castle's signature was valid.

in Johnson's program and what happened to them:

He called for a new farm program. Eisenhower has wanted to cut down government expenses by cutting down price supports. Congress passed a wheat bill and a tobacco bill which kept price supports up. Eisenhower vetoed both. The prospect: no farm bill this year.

Johnson called for legislation to help areas of chronic unemployment. Eisenhower had asked only 53 million dollars for this. The Senate voted 389 million, the House Banking Committee thought 251 million would be right. The bill has been lying in the Rules Committee for months. For all practical purposes, it seems dead. So does help for depressed areas.

Johnson said there should be stepped-up water development for the West. A Senate committee is looking into this. But it is not expected to make a recommendation before 1961.

Johnson wanted a "bold, new" housing program. Congress approved a bill the President thought was too costly. Eisenhower vetoed it. Now Congress is working on one it hopes he won't veto.

Johnson wanted an expanded airport building program. So did Eisenhower. The President proposed spending 200 million dollars over four years. Congress worked out a compromise to spend 126 million dollars over two years. Eisenhower accepted this, signed it into law.

A review of foreign policy Johnson called for is now in the study stage. The labor control bill, now in conference, was another of his points.

Outer Space Is Not Empty

Space travel enthusiasts are in for a rude shock.

This was the reaction of physicists who have been studying reports from the University of Minnesota's high-altitude radiation studies showing that the sun shoots out streams of atomic particles that are quite destructive.

These particles amount to huge death rays in outer space. Four times in the last 11 weeks the death rays have been detected. They occur during "solar flares" which really are giant explosions on the surface of the sun.

Scientists studying the rays have found that stopping them in outer space would take at least one inch and maybe two inches of lead. Enough lead to protect a space ship's travelers would weigh more tons than any space propulsion system now conceived could lift out of the earth's gravitational field.

There is a possibility that men could make "short" trips—such as to the moon—without being hit by the death rays, by the simple device of leaving the earth at exactly the right time. But for trips to other planets, which would take months, there is no feasible system available to protect them.

Of course, in view of past conquests of "the impossible," no one would be foolish enough to say at this time that man never will travel past the moon. But the possibility of doing so are becoming slimmer as scientists discover that outer space is not nearly as "empty" as they once thought.

Khrush Goes Trade Happy

In Leipzig on March 6, Nikita Khrushchev said:

"Moreover, economic relations provide good prerequisites for the strengthening of political relations. The extensive development of trade would play a large part in strengthening confidence among nations, in easing international tension."

This, then, is the current policy of Soviet Russia. Having found that a victory by war is probably impossible because of the balance of lethal weapons, that imperialistic diplomacy in Africa and Asia has only produced a nationalism which is antagonistic to Soviet Russia as it is to the West, Khrushchev has turned to trade as a fundamental of Soviet expansion.

In the vast expanse of Russian territory, including the satellites, Russia possesses a store-house of raw materials and now an important manufacturing complex.

Khrushchev's program is historically sound, for after all Great Britain, Holland, Belgium, Japan and even tiny Luxembourg have established prosperous countries and even powerful states on the proceeds of foreign trade. Earlier, Spain and Portugal built empires on the proceeds of foreign trade and colonial exploitation. France built an Empire in North America but lost it to Great Britain and the United States because the French did not take full advantage of their trade possibilities.

Czarist Russia built an enormous empire in Asia but never realized its commercial potentialities except for the tea, fur, hide, skin and wool trade. Khrushchev intends to develop Siberia and Turkestan into the world's largest producer of raw materials, both agricultural and mineral, and a manufacturing complex to equal ours.

This is possible of accomplishment if Russia has a prolonged period of peace and if it can develop adequate management under its present system.

Two factors involved in foreign trade are not generally recognized. They are the export of men and money. Foreign trade requires propaganda in many forms, advertising, public relations, salesmanship, contacts, often even a bit of corruption politely performed. This requires skilled and trained men.

Over a long period of history, say from Elizabeth I on, the British were particularly skilled at trade promotion and adjusted the policies of the Empire to its necessities. At the beginning of the 20th century, the Germans showed up in all world markets as remarkable traders, capturing many markets from the British, including some British colonial centers.

The Japanese entered this trade and by the time of World War I were way out in front among the five greatest powers on Earth. Both the British and the Japanese sold American goods in Asiatic markets more effectively than Americans could because they understood exchange, shipping, insurance and commercial banking better than we did.

It is to be noted that Great Britain, Germany and Japan were, and are, very weak in raw materials, being forced to import much that they use in their manufactures. In the instance of Great Britain and Japan, they are also required to import some of their principal food requirements. Neither the United States nor Soviet Russia are in such a situation, and therefore are not so seriously affected by problems of exchange.

The requirement for skilled salesmanship and propaganda is now fulfilled in Soviet Russia by special training. Russians in high school learn to speak foreign languages and English is generally their second language. They not only learn to read it, as our students do, but to speak colloquially.

As to the export of money, Soviet Russia is now definitely a creditor nation. True, Soviet Russia has never paid its World War I debts and still owes a part of the $11,000,000,000 which President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his aid, Harry Hopkins, gave Stalin in money and essential goods to keep him in the war against Hitler. In fact, Soviet Russia's credit ought not to be good, but apparently businessmen's faith, as well as that of the government, is great indeed.

Be that as it may, Soviet Russia today is a creditor nation, extending both long-term and intermediate credits to other countries and in some instances, making its commitments in gold. Since World War II, Soviet Russia has advanced credits to other countries amounting to 30,000,000,000 rubles or about $7,000,000,000.

As a creditor nation, Soviet Russia is in a position to develop its trade in all parts of the world where there are no specific restrictions against it. Khrushchev, as did Mikoyan and Kozlov, will do everything possible to foster trade with the United States.

Aid Child in School Start

By Herman N. Bundesen, N.D.

It just doesn't seem possible, does it, that many of you will have a little tot toddling off to school in a week or so?

Seems like only yesterday that he was taking his first step. Now he's big enough to begin his formal education, even if it is only in kindergarten or first grade. You can help him prepare for that big day right now.

For one thing, talk about school as frequently as you can, stressing the friendships he will make with other children. Let him discuss school freely and ask him if he has any questions about it which you can answer.

Give the youngster an example of what he may be doing in kindergarten or first grade. Tell him about the books he will get. Probably nothing makes a child feel more grown up than getting a school book, even if he can't read it.

It will be of considerable help if your child can tie his shoelaces and button his jacket when he gets to school. This means he has two less things to learn.

However, I don't want you to make an issue of such things during the last few days before school.

Pressuring a child into learning how to tie a shoelace or button coat just before he enters school may not produce the best emotional attitude toward his big adventure.

But there are a few things every child of school age should know. These include his name, address and, if possible, his telephone number.

It might be a good idea to print this information on a paper or card and put it in his pocket.

If you haven't already done it, walk with him to the school a few times so that he will get to know the route. Of course you will take him back and forth after school begins until you are convinced he can make the trip safely by himself.

Some youngsters take the start of their education in a matter-of-fact manner. Others might become a bit nervous as the big day approaches. So it's especially important that your child gets enough rest and the proper nourishment during these few final days.

It had 12 points, some of which overlapped. But he said these were what the country needed.

The program looked impressive. The performance hasn't been.

Rayburn, always credited with magical control over House Democrats, in one glaring example didn't even seem to have control over his own Democrats from Texas. That was on the labor control bill.

The Senate passed a middle-of-the-road bill 90-1. But the House, mainly through Eisenhower's urging and a combination of Southern Democrats and Republicans, was in a mood to pass a much tougher one.

On the crucial vote for the tougher bill—229 for, 201 against—16 of Rayburn's 20 fellow Democrats from Texas voted for the sterner measure even though he himself said he favored the Senate version.

Those 16 Texas votes, if switched the other way, would have killed the tough bill. And Rayburn seems ineffective on another piece of legislation, a civil rights bill, which was approved by the House Judiciary Committee.

Rayburn promised earlier this year he wouldn't allow the Rules Committee to strangle legislation some other committee approved—but that's where the measure is bottled up now.

Johnson has insisted the Senate this year would pass a civil rights bill, but even if it does, there can be no new civil rights law unless the House also acts, which now seems unlikely.

In the Senate, Johnson has been more manager than leader. As a manager he undertakes to get divergent factions to work together. This calls for compromise, of which Johnson is a master, although the result is watered-down legislation.

These were some of the points

in Johnson's program and what happened to them:

He called for a new farm program. Eisenhower has wanted to cut down government expenses by cutting down price supports. Congress passed a wheat bill and a tobacco bill which kept price supports up. Eisenhower vetoed both. The prospect: no farm bill this year.

Johnson called for legislation to help areas of chronic unemployment. Eisenhower had asked only 53 million dollars for this. The Senate voted 389 million, the House Banking Committee thought 251 million would be right. The bill has been lying in the Rules Committee for months. For all practical purposes, it seems dead. So does help for depressed areas.

Johnson said there should be stepped-up water development for the West. A Senate committee is looking into this. But it is not expected to make a recommendation before 1961.

Johnson wanted a "bold, new" housing program. Congress approved a bill the President thought was too costly. Eisenhower vetoed it. Now Congress is working on one it hopes he won't veto.

Johnson wanted an expanded airport building program. So did Eisenhower. The President proposed spending 200 million dollars over four years. Congress worked out a compromise to spend 126 million dollars over two years. Eisenhower accepted this, signed it into law.

A review of foreign policy Johnson called for is now in the study stage. The labor control bill, now in conference, was another of his points.

Recent Tremors Change Many Of Yellowstone's Geysers

Editor's Note: What did the Montana earthquake do to the famed geysers in Yellowstone National Park? Dean Stone, managing editor of the Maryville-Alcoa, Tenn., Times, who was vacationing here at time of the quake, reports that it changed the pace of many geysers.

By DEAN STONE

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo., (AP) — Old Faithful is still on schedule, but last week's earthquake has apparently stepped up the pace of many geysers in Yellowstone National Park.

Economic Geyser, dormant for nearly half a century, was triggered into action.

Morning, Fountain and Clepsydra geysers are among those which have increased their tempo since the quake last Monday night.

Morning Glory Pool and other hot springs turned murky after the quake, but now appear to be returning to normal. Giantess Geyser, which usually plays two or three times per season for 12 to 36 hours, began erupting constantly following the quake.

Some of the parks thermal features have become less active.

Grand Geyser, which is larger than Old Faithful, has not been in action for several days. It normally erupts every nine hours.

Merrill D. Beal, park naturalist, said there is no change in Old

Faithful's performance. He said the Fountain Paint Pot in the lower geyser basin "has definitely increased" in activity. It appears to be working its way into a parking lot area, Beal said.

Steady Geyser, which got its name for regularly gushing a stream 15 feet high, has diminished. It now just bubbles four to five feet.

Ted Brown Votes With Democrats In Ballot Fuss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican Secretary of State Ted W. Brown yesterday voted with Democratic members of the Scioto County Board of Elections to break a tie involving a candidate for township trustee.

Brown voted to permit the name of Robert J. Castle of Lucasville to go on the November ballot. The dispute centered on the signature of Castle's wife on his nominating petition. She became a registered voter July 27.

The date appearing after her signature was July 17, but she testified at a hearing that someone else entered the date. She signed the petition after she registered, she testified. On the basis of her testimony, Brown held Mrs. Castle's signature was valid.

Ohio Valley Steel Cities Keep Anxious Eye on Strike

The Cincinnati Enquirer last week sent Reporter Margaret Josten on a tour of Ohio Valley steel centers for stories on the effects of the steel strike. This is the first of her series.

By MARGARET JOSTEN
Cincinnati Enquirer Reporter
CINCINNATI (AP)—Smokeless, stymied Pittsburgh waits restlessly for something to happen.

The steel strike is going into its seventh week Wednesday and as Pittsburghers see it, the negotiations in New York are getting exactly nowhere.

More than 100,000 men are loafing on street corners, putting in flower gardens, walking the picket lines in towns surrounding the capital of steel — Homestead, Aliquippa and the rest.

Their savings are running out; their wives are asking, "When will it end?"

Business activity is beginning to show downward trend on the charts of the economists. Nearly every day, 100 or 200 more men are laid off by industries depending upon steel for continued operation.

The strike is on every mind, every tongue.

"Somebody said steel would settle for 12 cents an hour," a South-

Stray Bullets Shower Marion Swimming Pool

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Stray bullets showered down on four surprised swimmers Sunday, seriously injuring a young girl and grazing three others in the Marion Olympia Pool.

One of the bullets struck Kathleen Hanley, 12, in the left temple. She was reported in fairly good condition today at Marion General Hospital.

Oren Linger, 34, hit in the right ankle, was treated at the hospital and released.

Two others said they thought someone hit them with rocks, but they were only grazed and did not require medical treatment.

The Marion County sheriff's office has confiscated a .22-caliber rifle from a residence northwest of the pool. Officials said the owner, apparently ricocheted before they struck the swimmers. About 250 to 300 persons were in or near the pool.

Navy Plans Missile Sub Fleet of 40

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Navy plans a fleet of about 40 ballistic missile submarines, but the aircraft carrier will remain the backbone of U.S. sea power.

Vice Adm. Wallace M. Beakley, deputy chief of naval operations for fleet operations and readiness, said that the Navy will resist any efforts to increase the missile sub fleet beyond the size planned.

He addressed the National Security Commission of the American Legion here, as part of the legion's annual convention.

Beakley did not elaborate on his comment about keeping the sub fleet down, but he appeared to be referring to the opinion in some congressional quarters favoring a larger force of the missile subs. About nine of them are now on order.

Beakley gave three reasons for keeping the fleet down to about 40:

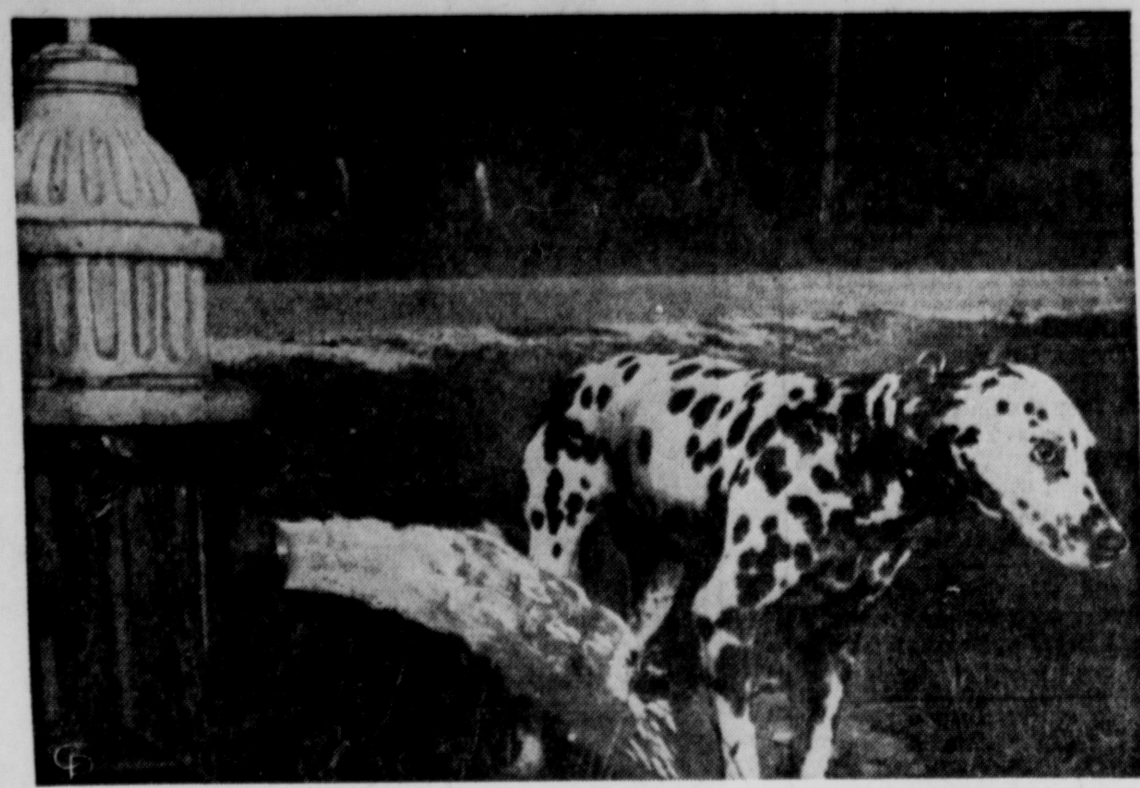

"First, because the deterrent-reliability strength of the United States must be a diversified mix of systems; second, your forces do not need to be enormous when they are relatively secure of attrition; and third, the Navy's requirements to meet limited aggressions will be exceedingly heavy."

Legion committees spent the weekend hearing speeches and preparing resolutions for the convention. Three days of business sessions start Tuesday.

Lake County Fair Back to Farmers

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The 46th Lake County Fair opened today in an old-fashioned setting—minus the non-agricultural exhibits which had been featured in recent years.

"We've returned to the idea that the fair is the place for farm families to show their accomplishments and the place for city people and others to view them," said Raymond Dorman, of Willoughby, fair president.

Dayton Man Claims Shooting Accident

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—William Armstrong, 33, is being held for questioning after police said he fatally shot his wife, Cleo, 33, at their home here Monday. Armstrong said his revolver, which he was about to clean, slipped and discharged accidentally as he held it in his perspiring hand. The couple's 5-year-old daughter, Patricia, told police her parents had been arguing.

If This Gin Were Any Drier It Would Blow Away!

Sit still a moment, and let us tell you about our new gin—the greatest invention since drinking.

Until now, most gin has come from the still with plenty of rough spots still in it. Ordinarily these get disguised by various perfumes and aromatics.

But this new gin of ours is so smooth you can make a Martini by just pouring it over ice cubes. No olive, no lemon, no debates about "how much vermouth."

We call it Schenley Smooth American Gin, mostly because that's what it is. Sometimes when we're feeling less formal, we refer to it as "S.A."

You refer to it that way, too, if you like. Step right up and say "S.A." If the dealer looks blank, stare right back at him. By this time he ought to know! Schenley Smooth American Gin.

By the way, the code number is 334B, the price is only $3.61 a fifth. Distilled from 100% Grain Neutral Spirits, eighty proof. Schenley Distillers Co., N. Y. C.

This is a very special opportunity for you to make a big-money-saving deal on a new 59 Ford. Right now Ford Dealers are making longer trades . . . that bring the cost of owning a new, Thunderbird-glamorous Ford down to a pocketbook-pleasing level. Why? Because there are now more than one million 59 Fords on the road. That means your Ford Dealer can pass along his extra volume savings to you in a tremendous 2nd Million Deal during his Summer Swapping Bee. And that means truly worthwhile economy for you!

The fact is, Ford prices are lowest of the best-selling three for all comparable models.

And you can add still more to your savings with the longer trade your Ford Dealer can make you now, during his Summer Swapping Bee! For example, you start with savings of up to $102.75* over Ford's nearest competitor on a new Fairlane 500 equipped the way most people buy cars—with radio, heater, and automatic transmission.

And save as you drive, too! Standard Ford engines (V-8 and Six) thrive on lower-cost, regular gas to save you up to a dollar a tankful. Full-Flow oil filtration (standard in every Ford engine) stretches oil changes a full 4000 miles apart. Amazing Diamond Lustre Finish keeps your Ford's beauty bright without waxing, ever. Ford's aluminum muffler normally lasts twice as long as the ordinary kind.

Visit your Ford Dealer and Action Test a new Ford. Then let your dealer show you how easy he can make it for you to step out in a brand-new Ford . . . and how much more you can save by doing that right now!

Little Rock Youths Pull Bomb Prank

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A homemade explosive device blew up outside newly integrated Hall High School Monday night, drawing a swarm of police to the scene. There was no damage and no one was hurt. The blast apparently was a teen-age prank.

Police grabbed two young white brothers as they ran up a hill from the school, where three Negro girls have attended since Aug. 12. Names of the boys were not released.

One boy, 17, told police he and his brother, 13, made the bomb from aluminum sulphate they had purchased at Taipei, Formosa, where they lived while their father — a colonel — was stationed there with the air force. They made the device with a glass pint jar.

The older boy said his family had stopped at Little Rock to visit relatives while en route to a new Air Force assignment at Whiteman Air Force Base, Sedalia

Mo. A third youth, their cousin, who "came along for the ride" in the incident, is a senior at Hall. He told newsmen he had nothing to do with the prank.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Cheers for a Tired Grandma!

DEAR ABBY: Is there any help for us Grandmas? I raised eight children. My youngest is 14. My children keep sending me their kids for vacations. It makes no difference how I am feeling or what I have to do.

This year I turned over a new leaf. One daughter-in-law wrote that she was sending me all seven of her kids for 3 weeks. I wrote back, "Oh, no you aren't. You have a mother and 3 sisters. I will take part of them but not all seven at once."

My daughter lives in another state. She called asking me to take her 5 for all summer. I said, "I took care of kids for 35 years and I am tired. Take care of your own kids."

My husband says I am a very mean person and will not go to heaven. Am I wrong?

TIRED GRANDMA
DEAR GRANDMA: You are certainly NOT wrong. There is nothing "mean" about your refusal to let others take advantage of you. You've earned your retirement. Don't worry, Grandma, you'll get to heaven all right. But there's no sense in rushing.

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-ager. I have already had my polio shots and my mother, who is 33, has taken hers, too. But my father said he wasn't going to take any because polio does not strike people after their late thirties.

Is he right about this or not? I think I read where a man 42 years old got polio.

WORRIED ABOUT DAD
DEAR WORRIED: Your father is mistaken. Polio has stricken thousands of adults in their thirties, forties and even fifties. Tell your Dad if he loves his family he will get his polio shots immediately.

Most recipes for braising short ribs (beef) call for water as the liquid but tomato juice makes an excellent substitute.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a boy who works on the second shift. He is 25 and I am 21. He never sees me on a Saturday night. He tells me he is working but he will not give me any proof. Like showing his check stubs. He complains about not having any money from one paycheck to another, but if he works on Saturdays he should get time and a half.

Am I wrong in wanting proof that he is not lying? What should I do?

WANTING PROOF
DEAR WANTING: Something is fishy! A truthful man could easily prove his statements. Get this Romeo out of the moonlight and take a good look at him in the daylight before you promise to spend the rest of your life with him.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Another Negro Pupil Attends Central High

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A second Negro pupil was integrated into Central High School yesterday with no protests. Carlotta Walls joined Jefferson Thomas at the formerly all-white school.

She had been attending summer school at Chicago.

Three Negro girls assigned to Hall High School entered classes peacefully.

The third Negro assigned to Central, Elizabeth Eckford, was in the school only one day. She has enough credits now to enter college.

About 17 other Negro pupils who applied for admission to white schools but were assigned to all-Negro Horace Mann High are boycotting the school.

Little Rock Youths Pull Bomb Prank

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A homemade explosive device blew up outside newly integrated Hall High School Monday night, drawing a swarm of police to the scene. There was no damage and no one was hurt. The blast apparently was a teen-age prank.

Police grabbed two young white brothers as they ran up a hill from the school, where three Negro girls have attended since Aug. 12. Names of the boys were not released.

One boy, 17, told police he and his brother, 13, made the bomb from aluminum sulphate they had purchased at Taipei, Formosa, where they lived while their father — a colonel — was stationed there with the air force. They made the device with a glass pint jar.

The older boy said his family had stopped at Little Rock to visit relatives while en route to a new Air Force assignment at Whiteman Air Force Base, Sedalia

Mo. A third youth, their cousin, who "came along for the ride" in the incident, is a senior at Hall. He told newsmen he had nothing to do with the prank.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Cheers for a Tired Grandma!

DEAR ABBY: Is there any help for us Grandmas? I raised eight children. My youngest is 14. My children keep sending me their kids for vacations. It makes no difference how I am feeling or what I have to do.

This year I turned over a new leaf. One daughter-in-law wrote that she was sending me all seven of her kids for 3 weeks. I wrote back, "Oh, no you aren't. You have a mother and 3 sisters. I will take part of them but not all seven at once."

My daughter lives in another state. She called asking me to take her 5 for all summer. I said, "I took care of kids for 35 years and I am tired. Take care of your own kids."

My husband says I am a very mean person and will not go to heaven. Am I wrong?

TIED GRANDMA
DEAR GRANDMA: You are certainly NOT wrong. There is nothing "mean" about your refusal to let others take advantage of you. You've earned your retirement. Don't worry, Grandma, you'll get to heaven all right. But there's no sense in rushing.

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-ager. I have already had my polio shots and my mother, who is 33, has taken hers, too. But my father said he wasn't going to take any because polio does not strike people after their late thirties.

Is he right about this or not? I think I read where a man 42 years old got polio.

WORRIED ABOUT DAD
DEAR WORRIED: Your father is mistaken. Polio has stricken thousands of adults in their thirties, forties and even fifties. Tell your Dad if he loves his family he will get his polio shots immediately.

Most recipes for braising short ribs (beef) call for water as the liquid but tomato juice makes an excellent substitute.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a boy who works on the second shift. He is 25 and I am 21. He never sees me on a Saturday night. He tells me he is working but he will not give me any proof. Like showing his check stubs. He complains about not having any money from one paycheck to another, but if he works on Saturdays he should get time and a half.

Am I wrong in wanting proof that he is not lying? What should I do?

WANTING PROOF
DEAR WANTING: Something is fishy! A truthful man could easily prove his statements. Get this Romeo out of the moonlight and take a good look at him in the daylight before you promise to spend the rest of your life with him.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Another Negro
Pupil Attends
Central High

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A second Negro pupil was integrated into Central High School yesterday with no protests.

Carlotta Walls joined Jefferson Thomas at the formerly all-white school.

She had been attending summer school at Chicago.

Three Negro girls assigned to Hall High School entered classes peacefully.

The third Negro assigned to Central, Elizabeth Eckford, was in the school only one day. She has enough credits now to enter college.

About 17 other Negro pupils who applied for admission to white schools but were assigned to all-Negro Horace Mann High are boycotting the school.

Washington Gunner Breaks 870 Straight at Vandalia

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Every one at the 60th Grand American Trapshoot is wondering when or if Ronald Riegger is going to miss a target.

The chunky 45-year-old crackshot from Castle Rock, Wash., has broken 870 in a row at 16 yards and is sneaking up on the world record set in 1938 by Joe Hiestand, the Hillsboro, Ohio, farmer.

Hiestand cracked 1,179 without a miss, not counting shootoffs in which he boosted the unbroken string to 1,404. The shootoffs do not count as registered targets.

Riegger's registered string stands at 620 after winning the 200-target introductory and breaking 100 in the Champion of Champions race Monday.

Including shootoffs, the West Coast star broke 325 Sunday and 425 Monday, the latter being trapshooting's new one-day record.

He was involved in a 10-man shootoff in the 100-target event for state champions. When darkness fell, only three of the 10 were left, each having broken 125 additional clays.

Still in with Riegger in the event to be completed today were Lee Hoksbergen of Pella, Iowa, and Dan Orlich, former pro grid star from Orion, Nev.

A field of 744, representing everything from Alaska to the Canal Zone, fired Monday in the Chicago Set For Pan-Am Track Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—Jack Kelly Jr., a famed, old hand at international sport carnivals, and sprinter Ray Norton, a comparative newcomer, today were singled out for high honors at the Pan American Games starting Thursday.

Kelly, brother of Princess Grace of Monaco, a three-time Olympian and 1955 Pan American singles sculls champion, was picked by U.S. officials to recite the Pan American oath — same as the Olympic oath — in the colorful opening ceremonies at Soldier Field Thursday afternoon.

Norton, latest sprint king in the long line of American dash greats, was chosen to carry the Stars and Stripes in the parade of nations.

The tall, 22-year-old speedster from Oakland, Calif., and San Jose state, is the outstanding choice to cop both the 100 and 200 meter crowns and lead a relay team to victory just as he did against the Russians at Philadelphia last month.

Kelly, 32-year-old Philadelphian, won't defend the crown he won at Mexico City. He has given up singles competition. But the former diamond sculls winner, will team up with Bill Knecht of Philadelphia in a try for the doubles sculls championship.

While the Americans and the Chicago organizing committee went full speed ahead for the coming games, the congress of the Pan American sports organization met today to award the 1963 games.

Sao Paulo, Brazil, a booming, skyscraper city of more than 3,000,000 population, was a virtual cinch to be awarded the fourth Western Hemisphere games.

Southern zone hunting starts September 15, making the entire state open for the bushy tails.

All nirrods are requested to obtain a copy of rules and regulations when they purchase licenses.

Chavez Ravine Target Date Is Next July

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Start of construction on the Dodgers stadium in Chavez Ravine has a new target date — Sept. 15.

Owner Walter O'Malley said Monday that barring unforeseen difficulties he hopes to have the $5,000-capacity plant finished by next July.

Randall Pays $1,739

CLEVELAND (AP)—Seventeen lucky bettors collected $1,739.80 payoff in the biggest daily double parlay of the Ohio racing season.

A 90-1 shot, Sunnybrook, won the first race and a 17-2 shot, Hot Pursuit, won the second.

Anne Quast Nips Par in Women's Amateur Tourney

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defending champion Anne Quast beat par by three strokes through the last six holes Monday and won a 5 and 4 decision from Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., in the first round of the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championship. She was 1 under for the 14 holes.

Anne, 21-year-old Marysville, Wash., brunette, was one of only two in the starting field of 128 to better par on Congressional Country Club's 6,457-yard, 37-74 course.

Joanne Goodwin, 23, Haverhill, Mass., three times Massachusetts titleholder, chipped 1 off regulation to dispose of Mrs. Davis L. White, Winchendon, Mass., 5 and 4.

He also led the Lancaster team in dethroning a Dayton squad, which had won the crown for the last four years. The Lancaster unit posted a four-man score of 303 to a 306 for Dayton.

Earlier Spires took the district title. He came off with four permanent trophies and a huge rotating trophy for the state title.

Silky Sullivan To Be Retired

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP)—Silky Sullivan, the barrel-chested horse who symbolized heart throbs and heartbreak for thousands of racing fans, is at the end of his career.

Tendon trouble has forced him out of the Del Mar meeting, and co-owner Tom Ross says the big fellow will be returned to his ranch for stallion duty.

Silky earned only $157,000 in three years of racing, and $83,400 of that came from winning the 1958 Santa Anita Derby, his only major victory.

Rosburg Heads PGA

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Bob Rosburg, winner of the Professional Golfers' Assn. championship earlier this month, has been elected chairman of the PGA Tournament Committee. Rosburg, 32, of Palo Alto, Calif., was the unanimous choice to head the seven-man board which controls the PGA's vast program of tournament golf.

Evans Leads First National to Win

Eddie Evans home run in the top of the sixth with two out and two teammates on base gave First National Bank a thrilling 10-9 comeback victory over Ward's Market in the first contest of a best of three series for the Little League minors championship.

A definite underdog going into last night's tilt at Ted Lewis Park, Ward's overcame a 2-0 deficit to take leads of 5-2 and 8-5 during the hair-raising battle before nearly 100 fans.

Buddy Strehle, First National's speed-balling right-hander, gained credit for his fifth consecutive win of the year without a defeat. Jerry Jenkins absorbed his second loss, a heartbreaker, against five victories.

The Bankers took a 2-0 first inning lead on an error sandwiched between two doubles by Larry Sykes and Tom Strous. After a scoreless second stanza, Ward's jumped on Strehle for five runs on two doubles and single, three walks, a hit batsman and two errors.

Ward's coasted along, holding the Bankers scoreless in the fourth, but couldn't stop the potent Bankers from tying up the game in the fifth with a three-run outburst.

Wilkins started things off with a double. After Mike Turner ground out, Sykes singled, which was followed by two straight doubles by Eddie Evans and Strehle.

Strous drove a high fly to right-center field which Doug Pontious made a brilliant catch on and doubled Strehle off second for the third out.

Ward's soared to an 8-5 fifth inning lead on Pontious' lone single, two walks and an error. Then the climactic sixth inning.

Holding an 8-5 lead, Jenkins couldn't prevent Jerry Cupp from singling and Larry Yinger doubling, their only hits of the game. Richardson fanned, Wilkins ground out and Turner walked.

Sykes drove in two runs with a

CHS Grid Squad Trimmed to 40

Circleville High School's football squad has trimmed down to 41 candidates so far in the early practice season. Approximately 61 boys reported for uniforms during the first couple of days of drills.

Coach Carl Benhase said a total of 120 freshmen reported, but only 10 remain. Additional frosh may be out by the time school starts, he said.

Coach Benhase said several lettermen and promising newcomers currently are making the grade with the varsity squad. Seeing duty at the end positions are Leo Moats, Gary Warner, Alex Cook and Jake Bailey.

Handling tackle posts are Dave Huffer, Tom Williams, Dan Leonhardt and Phil Wing. Working at guard are Co-Captain Harold Arledge, Dan Moffitt, Irv Ellis and Dave Hix.

LEONARD Eblin and Steve Helwage have been working at center.

At quarterback it's Co-Captain Dave Smith and Gary Agin. Holding down fullback berths are veteran Larry Hannahs and Williams.

Pat Rooney has been working as a utility man, seeing duty at fullback, quarterback and center.

Coach Benhase said his hopefuls are working hard and putting out a fine effort in face of the tremendous heat which has gripped this area the last several days.

Benhase said Dan Leonhardt, tipping the scales at 185 pounds, presently is the heaviest man on the line. In the backfield it's Larry Hannahs, also weighing in at 185.

TWO NEW members have been added to the coaching staff. They are Jim Lent, Ashland College grad who is serving as assistant reserve mentor, and Paul Sarchet, Muskingum College alumnus, now assisting with the varsity and who will coach Junior High flagball.

Holdover assistants are John Current, head reserve coach, Jack Weikert, varsity end and tackle coach, John Adler, varsity guard and center coach, and Dick Fisher, backfield coach.

Coach Benhase praised his assistants today, noting that they are working hard and showing plenty of enthusiasm.

The coach also praised his grid candidates who have remained on the squad, especially in the face of the boiling temperatures which have gone beyond the 90-degree mark every day since practice started.

A big objective for the locals comes Thursday when Bexley High comes to the high school field for a practice session. The encounter is slated to start at 3 p. m.

Saturday the Tigers will go to Logan for another scrimmage workout with the Chieftain grid force. The locals plan to leave here at 7 a. m. and be ready for drills by 9 a. m.

Brown Eyes Schafrath

Carpenter Moves To Slot End Job

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Rookie Dick Schafrath of Ohio State, injured in the College All-Star game more than 10 days ago, took his first workout with the Cleveland Browns Monday.

Schafrath has a special problem to overcome in his bid to make the team.

Coach Paul Brown permits no water on the field during practice nor in games. Schafrath perspires freely and becomes dehydrated quickly. He was near exhaustion after Monday's long workout.

Other than that, Schafrath, who worked out at defensive end, appears to have the size and desire for the job. He checked in at 230 pounds.

Following Saturday night's 9-3 exhibition loss to the Detroit Lions at Akron—a game Brown called "our poorest presentation ever"—the coach made two changes.

Preston Carpenter was switched from halfback to the slot end. He'll play on the opposite side from pass-catching end Billy Howton. Bob Grain, used as a defensive tackle, moves over to left end on the defensive team.

Brown explained he was changing Carpenter back to the position he played the last two seasons because "he's too good a football player not to be used regular."

"Bobby Mitchell is our best long-shot running threat so Preston would be playing behind him," Brown explained. "Carpenter's a fellow who gets better when the whistle blows. We also found we need experience at the slot end. He has the know-how."

A strong, aggressive player like Grain is needed at defensive end, Brown said. "Many teams have strong running attacks to that side. Bob has played the position before but never really had time to become accustomed to it," the coach said.

The Browns pared their squad by one player Monday—asking waivers on Jack Stilwell, rookie end from Northwestern.

The Browns go to San Francisco for an exhibition against the 49ers Sunday.

Heavy Title Bout Contract Is Set

GOTEBURG, Sweden (AP) — The return match between heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and ex-champ Floyd Patterson will take place early next year, Jack Dempsey, promotional director of Rosenbom Enterprises Inc., announced today.

No definite date has been set and no site has been chosen, Dempsey added, "and all speculation concerning the date and site are meaningless."

The former heavyweight champion, acting as spokesman for the six-man American delegation here to close the fight, said the decks had been cleared for Johansson to sign a new contract, probably today.

Bike Riders Stop For Rest Here on Cross Country Trip

Two young men recently rested at a local service station while enroute to New York City, N. Y.

This may not sound news-worthy until you hear that they were traveling by bicycles. One bicycle enthusiast, Tito Belling, 17, was pedaling from Los Angeles, Calif., and was joined in Chicago, Ill., by Reuben Chapman, 21, Sterling, Ill.

Belling had been on the road for seven weeks and three days and Chapman, nine days. Belling and another friend had left Los Angeles, but the friend left him in Chicago because he was in a hurry.

Belling met Chapman while the elder Chapman was trying out for the Pan American bike races in Chicago. After a short discussion, Chapman decided to accompany Belling the rest of the trip.

THE TWO YOUNG MEN said they average 100 miles a day. Their best day of traveling was 134 miles. This was Belling's idea of spending his summer vacation.

He is a senior in Los Angeles and planned to fly back to his home in time for school which starts September 14. Chapman leaves Belling in Philadelphia, Pa., to attend a three-week training session in non-violent social reform.

He attends Chicago University, majoring in social reform. Both men have been bicycle racers for two years and admitted that it is a minor sport in this country, but extremely popular in other nations.

At night the pair sleep under the stars and have a tent in case of rain or too many insects. They were traveling through here enroute to YMCA resort near Steubenville.

They said that earlier in the day they had stopped for a meal of sweet corn with a South Charleston farmer. They related that they had experienced many pleasing moments along the way and found everyone kind and generous.

Belling said he had worn out four tires thus far and had broken his first bike chain here after nearly 4,000 miles. Both men wore special shoes that fastened to their bikes' racing pedals.

THEY TRAVEL in a row, with one breaking the wind by leading the way and changing off every so often. They usually started out around 7:30 a. m. and rode till dusk.

Belling's beard was started when he left Los Angeles while Chapman wears a beard continually. Each man had one suit and several changes of riding attire that were washed in streams along the route.

They stated that they kept to the lesser traveled highways for safety's sake. After resting at J. E. Mason's Shell Service Station 303 E. Main St., the two youths bid Circleville goodbye and continued along their pedaling way.

"Quake Lake" Key to Danger

Engineers Race Against Time

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The Army Engineers Corps raced against time today to secure the Madison River valley in Montana against possible new disaster bred in last week's earthquakes.

The key to the danger is "Quake Lake," a reservoir formed when the south side of an 8,000-foot mountain slid into the valley some seven miles below Hebgen Dam, cutting off the flow of the Madison River.

If the water tops the slide it could endanger the valley below. Engineers considered the possibility—however remote—that it could even wash out the mile-long slide.

Wendell E. Johnson, chief of the engineering section of the Missouri River Division, who walked over the slide, estimated it is from 150 to 400 feet deep and the lake behind it is already about 80 feet deep.

Water is pouring into the lake from Hebgen Dam. Johnson said it could possibly reach the top of the slide within 20 to 30 days.

Hebgen dam is holding firm but there are cracks in it. Engineers say they cannot ignore the possibility of its giving way.

The largest stained glass window in Europe has been placed in the Cathedral of Nantes in the Brittany region of France. Nearly 2,000 square feet in area, it is made up of 30,000 pieces of glass.

THE TWO YOUNG MEN said they average 100 miles a day. Their best day of traveling was 134 miles. This was Belling's idea of spending his summer vacation.

He is a senior in Los Angeles and planned to fly back to his home in time for school which starts September 14. Chapman leaves Belling in Philadelphia, Pa., to attend a three-week training session in non-violent social reform.

He attends Chicago University, majoring in social reform. Both men have been bicycle racers for two years and admitted that it is a minor sport in this country, but extremely popular in other nations.

At night the pair sleep under the stars and have a tent in case of rain or too many insects. They were traveling through here enroute to YMCA resort near Steubenville.

They said that earlier in the day they had stopped for a meal of sweet corn with a South Charleston farmer. They related that they had experienced many pleasing moments along the way and found everyone kind and generous.

Belling said he had worn out four tires thus far and had broken his first bike chain here after nearly 4,000 miles. Both men wore special shoes that fastened to their bikes' racing pedals.

THEY TRAVEL in a row, with one breaking the wind by leading the way and changing off every 80 miles. They usually started out around 7:30 a. m. and rode till dusk.

Belling's beard was started when he left Los Angeles while Chapman wears a beard continually. Each man had one suit and several changes of riding attire that were washed in streams along the route.

They stated that they kept to the lesser traveled highways for safety's sake. After resting at J. E. Mason's Shell Service Station, 303 E. Main St., the two youths bid Circleville goodbye and continued along their pedaling way.

"Quake Lake" Key to Danger

Engine's Race Against Time

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The Army Engineers Corps raced against time today to secure the Madison River valley in Montana against possible new disaster bred in last week's earthquakes.

The key to the danger is "Quake Lake," a reservoir formed when the south side of an 8,000-foot mountain slid into the valley some seven miles below Hebgen Dam, cutting off the flow of the Madison River.

If the water tops the slide it could endanger the valley below. Engineers considered the possibility—however remote—that it could even wash out the mile-long slide.

Wendell E. Johnson, chief of the engineering section of the Missouri River Division, who walked over the slide, estimated it is from 150 to 400 feet deep and the lake behind it is already about 80 feet deep.

Water is pouring into the lake from Hebgen Dam. Johnson said it could possibly reach the top of the slide within 20 to 30 days.

Hebgen dam is holding firm but there are cracks in it. Engineers say they cannot ignore the possibility of its giving way.

The largest stained glass window in Europe has been placed in the Cathedral of Nantes in the Brittany region of France. Nearly 2,000 square feet in area, it is made up of 30,000 pieces of glass.
